

A reinforced dental root stump has a root part and a head, is made punched and covered with a layer of elastic plastic inside and outside.