

Method for determination of defectiveness of two-layer insulation of enamel wire includes the fact that enamel wire is passed through device that has reception-laying block, rollers, electrodes of test block, recording block.