

A hemostasis technique in thyroid surgery comprises the coagulation of blood vessels with the aid of electric welding of biological tissues.