

A method for smelting crude ferronickel with optimal silicon content comprises the smelting of crude ferronickel in ore-thermal electrical furnace using oxidized nickel ore, flux and carbon reduction agent of marks PA (pea anthracite), AC (anthracite culm) as charge materials.