

The wagon with a roof that opens, includes a body with end and side walls and two transverse axis with rotary half-roofs rigidly attached to the front wall, and half-roofs steering mechanism and balancing mechanism. Each half-roof consists of two sections of different heights with the possibility of independent rotation, each section contains two T-shaped racks with slope mechanisms and balance mechanisms, stretched strings between the stands and a floor cover based on strings, stands are equipped with legs for sliding or rolling on the arc, rigidly fixed on the end walls.