

The method for prophylaxis and treatment of radioinduced osteopathias includes introduction of calcitonin group preparation. The preparation is introduced daily during 25 days by divided doses, with changing step-by-step of quantitative and time correlation of preparation introduction.