

A method for ECG telemonitoring comprises the measurements and the transfer of the measured parameters for further processing. Finally, patient' state is assessed.