

Main aerodynamic panel of space rocket has doors fixed to each other with pyro-units, pushers of the pneumatic system of separation, cable network of pyro-means and installed in uniform way in a circle of the upper cylindrical part radial spring-supported supports. Controllable in force tightening of spring-supported supports provides possibility of obtaining integral structure "main aerodynamic panel – spacecraft" with high rigidity characteristics.