

The digging working body of the potato harvester includes a cutting edge, sidewalls and a surface along which the tuber mass moves to the conveyor. The surface on which the tuberized mass moves to the conveyor has a bar bottom, and the sidewalls have holes where a cylindrical lump shredder is fixed.